

EBCOG

European Board and College of Obstetrics and Gynaecology

Leuven, 23rd July 2026

Dear Colleagues,

Thanks to the strong collaboration between EBCOG and the national societies of obstetrics and gynaecology, our European community is growing stronger every day. Together, we are helping shape the education of future specialists and advocating for better women's health across Europe and beyond.

We warmly invite all national societies to share their achievements centrally with EBCOG. Whether you have published new guidelines, recommendations, position statements, scientific articles, educational initiatives, or important national developments, we would be delighted to help showcase your work.

Our social media platforms provide an excellent opportunity to highlight your achievements to an international audience. By sharing your work, we can strengthen the visibility of national initiatives, encourage collaboration across countries, and support collective efforts to improve women's healthcare.

Please feel free to send materials in English, including publications, summaries of key documents, and information on important women's health issues in your country. We also encourage you to send any questions or problems faced locally by your society.

EBCOG is committed to supporting and advocating for improvements in women's health, and we are always happy to promote the outstanding work of our member societies through our communication channels.

Thank you for your continued partnership and dedication. Together, we can make an even greater impact on women's health across Europe and around the world.

With kind regards,

On behalf The EBCOG Executive Board

Professor Sebastian Kwiatkowski
Communications Officer, EBCOG